COMET 1941

As clay comes to the hands of the artist, so do students come to the Austin High School; and as the artist from clay forms his models so does the Austin High School mold ideas, ideals, and ambitions of the student body.

The 1941 COMET through the brushes of the art staff, the lenses of the photographers, and the pens of the literary staff records for you, "Student Clay," some of the classroom experiences and extracurricular activities which have fashioned YOU, the living works of art

—AUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS.

ADMINISTRATION

GEORGE H. WELLS

To the Students of Austin High School:

Opportunity is ever before you!

Here at the Austin High School a multitude of activities beckon to you.

They offer you growth, abiding interest, and honest recognition. They promise to discover your talents and help you make new friendships. They will demand much of your time and energy. They may absorb your thoughts and test your endurance. But they will be worth every hour of struggle.

It is important that you decide early. Great student leadership or superior performance cannot be developed in one year. You must start now if you would achieve in other years.

It is important that you limit yourself. Do not let the array of activities cause you to waste your energies or spread your efforts over too many half-started interests.

As you look over the pages of our 1941 yearbook, try to picture yourself in one of the activities so fully portrayed. Plan for it now. Then excel in it.

And in that day you will know that through your school living you have been moulded and made into a more effective and vital individual.

George Wells,
Principal.

A. N. McCALLUM

To the Graduates:

Congratulations on receiving your diplomas from the Austin High School.

You and your generation will be called upon to "carry on" when peace comes again. You will not face your responsibility with timidity nor with fear. Nor will you face it with arrogance. True to your heritage, you will accept it as a challenge. You will face it humbly, but with fortitude, and with profound faith. Nor will you ever forget that our nation's escape from the horrors, hunger, and death in other countries is due to our good fortune and not to our virtues.

God's blessings go with every one of you.

Sincerely,

A. N. McCallum

Superintendent of Schools.

P A I S A N O

"Paisano" is a comparatively new word around school, but "Paisano" is certainly a well-known organization, principally because those sixteen sprightly sprites have made it so. It is primarily an affiliated Girl Scout organization whose purpose it is to acquaint the girls with social conditions and problems outside the regular curricular system.

During the spring semester, the group ventured forth on a series of expeditions to explore carefully such fascinating civic institutions as the Travis County Lighthouse for the Blind, the WPA Sewing Room, and the Community Chest Center. 'Twas a neat bit of social education plus a whole lot of good clean fun for the girls.

Then, in May, they took time from their Paisano-ing to catch up on some real picnicking at Zilker.

Extra! Extra! Read all about it! Sapphonians celebrate twenty-third birthday! Extra!

Yes, fellow hopefuls, the sensational Sapphonian Literary Society (that club which has what it takes) is now twenty-three years old. At present, it boasts of some forty-five dainty, delicate damsels, forty-five "Sapphs" whose personalities plus add that certain something to any social occasion—be it a dance, a tea, or what have you.

It's history that their annual tea-dances and spring formals are simply the "cream of the crop."

P. S. And these bits of feminine pulchritude are triple threats to anyone's intramural record, as evidenced by their winning the Intramural Club Cup for 1940.

Once upon a time in the famous year of 1916 there were nine lovers of beauty, art, and literature who put their nine wills and wits together and formed the School Prodigy—the Margaret Preston Literary Society.

Even after twenty-five years of glorious success, this club is still advancing and ranks among the top organizations of Austin High.

And what makes it so popular? Well, there are many reasons, among which are the annual fall Silver Tea Dance, the much-talked-of Christmas Dance, and the Spring picnic. But, as we know, and as you know, in fact, as everyone knows, the main reason for its success is these forty "Maggies" with beauty, brains, and wit, a delightful mixture of "what it takes" generously dispersed throughout their ranks.

It was in the year of 1937 that the "Good Fairy of Personality" inspired some little ambitious maidens to create an A-number-1 club—the Minoan Literary Society, and it has grown like "Jack's beanstalk" in the four years of its life. This organization is composed of forty-five modest Minoans who do everything in just the right modern manner to "click" with a huge percentage of Austin High's social and athletic life. But wait! They are not "Gay Heads" who gallop from party to party—they do their own part of entertaining, too, as: That January Barn Stomp which really went over with a bang! Also that Formal of May 2 which made the society page in CAPITAL LETTERS.

So, you can see, these many socialites are busy from dawn to dusk, doing their duty as polished guests or perfect hostesses, as the case may be.

HYPATIAN hot stuff whooping it up.

Did we hear you ask, "Why is the Hypatian Literary Society so popular?" Well, we'll tell you, my dear freshmen (evidently you are freshmen 'cause even wee students one semester old know the answer to that!) First, there's their vim, vigor, and vitality. And when there are three such qualities in one organization how could it help being popular? Then sprinkled in are brains and personality. Last but not least, their social affairs seethe with success. Remember that Formal of December 26th? That spring picnic of May 3rd which went over as big as Spring itself?

There, in a nutshell, you have one Hypatian's worth of knowledge, and we're sure it's convincing.

The four-year-old Senate Debate Club may not have the age of the senior house of Congress for which it is named, but it has gained in those few years since its founding as much prestige in good old Austin High School as the Senate has in our nation. You will find the club members in the midst of all the speech, athletic, and social events. The boys and their dates had a swell banquet at Old Seville one night in March. On April 26 the club dance was held.

These ambitious lads are surely going places and doing things. We predict (old man Comet is a soothsayer, you know) that surely some day one of these boys will be President of the United States. We're counting on you, Senators.

The Polyhymnian Literary Society was founded in 1927 by several lasses who wanted to start something really special. They did, for Poly pep, popularity, and pulchritude have been by-words ever since.

This year the Polys were to be found in debate, declamation, dramatics, and other extracurricular activities. They found time to study, too, as witnessed by the number who made the honor roll.

Club programs were helpful in a social as well as a literary way, for the girls often discussed familiar etiquette and social problems.

Social highspots of the Polys' 1940-1941 year were the Christmas formal and the Saint Patrick's Day Tea-Dance.

Poly spirit has always been among the best, and we rest assured that it will continue to be so.

"Hasn't scratched yet" may be the motto of a cleanser, but it could just as well be descriptive of the Woodrow Wilsons—they're that smooth and polished.

Behind their exterior glitter, however, the Wilsons really stand for their creed so aptly expressed by a member—"To encourage good sportsmanship, scholarship, and fairness, and to form a more perfect brotherhood."

In summer, these perfect specimens entertain at New Braunfels their dates at a joyful jamboree. Here, hot dogs and dill pickles are as characteristic as moonlight and roses are of their formal.

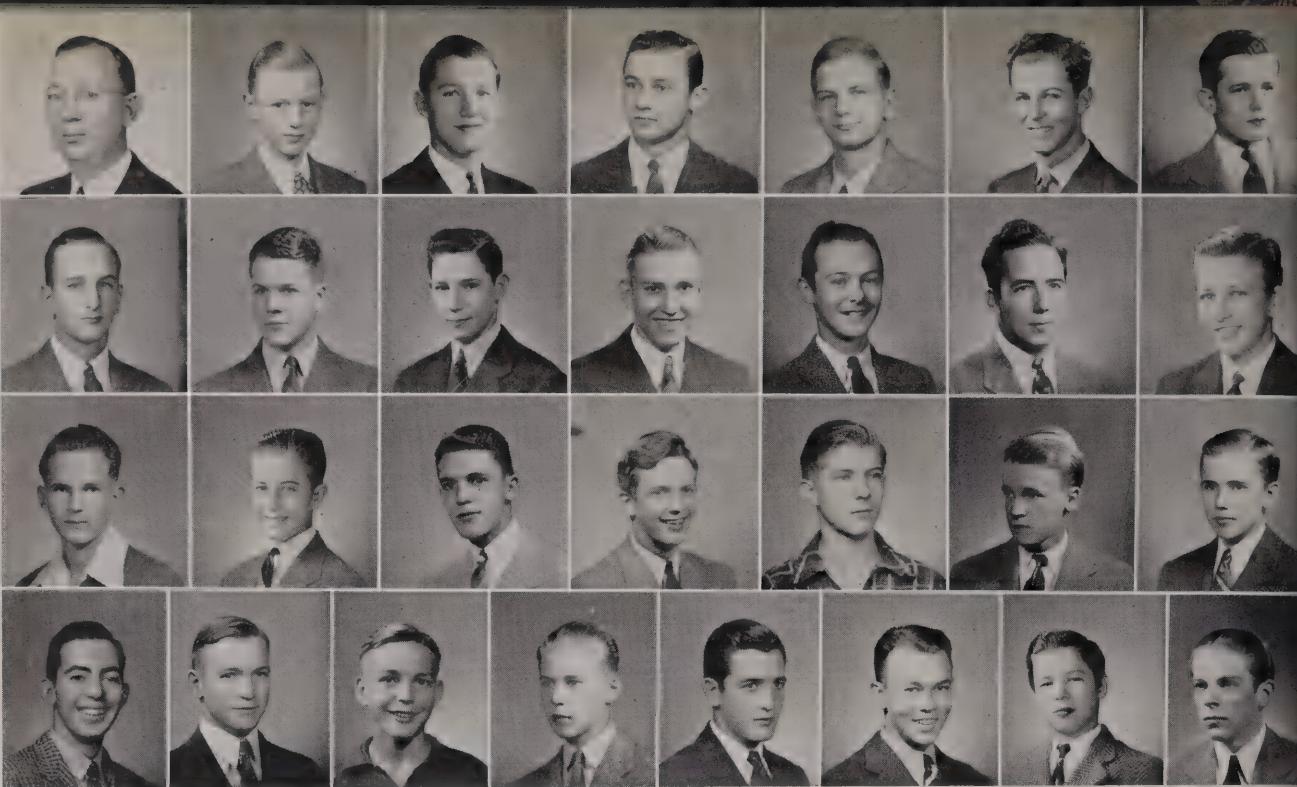

There's a Wilson finger in every Austin High School pie—has been ever since 1937—and more than usually, it gets the plum. This holds good in athletics as well as in the eloquent arts, such as debate, declamation, drama, and journalism.

The Woodrow Wilson club stands firmly behind any worthy cause and holds to their informal motto—"To do all the good."

Brotherly love, patience, honesty, and chivalry—these are only a few of the virtues of the Forrest Guynn Cooks. These Guynn Cooks have not only lived up to their aim—"To develop the traits of manhood"—but have also developed an organization of individual personality. These modern knights also are responsible for many social activities, such as the first breakfast dance of the season, and the Guynn Cook Alumni Dinner Dance of 1941. But the club doesn't stop there; it has taken honors since 1925 in athletic events, and is the only organization to produce two successive Presidents of the Student Council. So we salute you, Guynn Cooks, the boys who perpetuated the name of your hero Forrest Guynn Cook.

Even as Socrates believed questioning to be the essence of learning, so do those fun-loving boys who labor and frolic under the sign of this great orator of Greece. The word "labor" applies to their industry. Since the club's organization in 1937, its membership has more than doubled. Those same boys devote at least one-half of the time to a program of questions and facts. The word "frolic" calls to mind the rummage sale of March 29, which preceded the big date, April 5, at which time the Socratics shone. What fun they had before that dance, putting all those gadgets in working order! Anyone who saw that gold ball rotating and those colored lights oscillating on it, could come to the conclusion that mechanical minds had been at work. Long may that gold torch with the sigma emblem hang in Austin High!

"Greetings, Grandpop!" So might say any number of High School students to any member of the Calhoun Debating Society. In truth, the Calhouns are the grandfather debating club of Austin High, and their social events set standards which go down in history. This year's highlights include a Christmas banquet, a Barn Dance, and a Spring Picnic.

The Barn Dance was held in the gym, alias the "Calhoun Bros. Barn," amidst a conglomeration of wagon-wheels, horse-collars, ploughs, overalls, gingham, and sawdust. The main feature of the Christmas banquet held at the Spanish Village was the fat, jovial Santa Claus who distributed gifts to the guests.

All in all, the Calhouns have been sticking very well by their motto, "We can, we have, we will!"

"Maid of Athens, ere we part,
Give, oh give me back my heart!"

Well, maybe our Athenaeums weren't the inspiration for this poetry, but it fits, for these girls are maids of Athens, via this nine-year-old society named for the city of Athens, pride of Greece.

But these maids not only take one's heart; they also take prizes in the athletic world as well as taking a social standing well worth anybody's time, as illustrated by that annual fall banquet, that savory spring "weenie" Bar-B-Q, and that Spring Formal of May 10.

Yes, their days are plenty occupied; yet they always have super-club meetings and program "menus" consisting of study of modern prose and poetry.

So hail, to thee, Athenaeum Society; keep up the good work and keep that "it" position among the school organizations!

Feeding the FRANKLINS and their fems.

Named for America's own scientist, statesman, and gentleman, Benjamin Franklin, the four-year-old Franklin Debate Society has been busy developing its own scientists, statesmen, and gentlemen.

In living up to his standards, the club has piled up quite a string of accomplishments ranging from real football heroism to red-hot Red Dragoning, plus more than an average supply of brains, brawn, and personality.

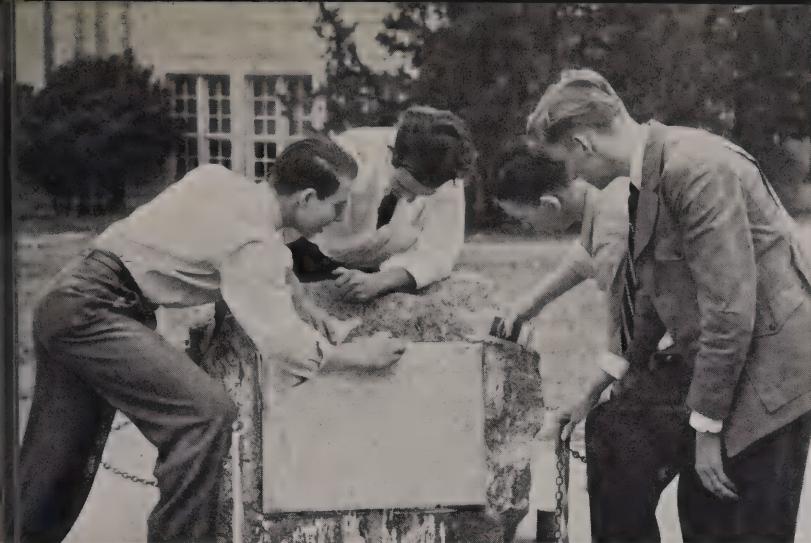

That's what made their swing fling of April 19 such a success; that's what boosts their growing prestige; and that's why our laddies (and lucky lassies) are so proud to sport the Franklin insignia, a little gavel with the graduation numeral.

With their heritage rich with Franklinisms and their pledges overflowing with Franklinism, they're bound for the top!

What has the world come to when a scout high in the ranks of scouting is called a tenderfoot? Disregarding the fate of the world, we pried into the question and discovered that a Bailey pledge is invariably called a tenderfoot; their being an eagle or first class scout makes no difference to their relentless brothers.

Tuesday's programs are made interesting by speakers from merit badge councils. Subjects are tangent to scouting, merit badges, advancement in rank, and service to the school. These topics are of special interest to the boys, as each one strives to know more about scout work and to be a better citizen.

The members and their dates turned out enthusiastically for the annual spring picnic, done up in true picnic style with the conventional picnic lunch. There in the midst of fun they were able to think back over a year of fine fellowship.

The girls have had a series of interesting programs this year on famous literary people. Their social "doings" include two initiation banquets and a spring formal of May 3. The fall banquet, a "draft dinner," was held at the Dixie Tea House midst flags and "God Bless America." The spring banquet, held at Old Seville, carried out a good ole Texas round-up theme.

Though the club is just a six-year-old, it's going strong and showing its interest in all the school activities. We predict that you'll be seeing lots of these Philos.

A year or two ago, this organization was called Hi-Y Number II, but the school and members both decided that there was nothing secondary about this group of American citizens. So they named it Capital Hi-Y, for capital fellows they were and are, and now they're just about the center of their sphere.

Behind their more frivolous front of picnics, scraps, and just plain fun, these Hi-Y-ers stand for "the development of body, mind, and spirit."

At their weekly meetings their aim is to present and discuss the problems of the average high school boy, and to endeavor to introduce the standards of a real gentleman.

One of the most versatile clubs in school is the Adonian Literary Society, a success athletically, socially, and literarily. These lively Adonians make it a point to have "all round" girls, enthusiastic about everything from the latest hair-do to short story discussions.

Their work this term was centered around high school etiquette and the improvement of personality. Furthermore, they are willing welfare workers, their most recent project being the presentation of a set of toys to the Austin Settlement Home.

In the way of social activities, their semi-annual twilight initiation service with a festive dinner, their swing-out of February 28, and their spring picnic of May 11 all boost their morale sky high, but it is the stickability and cooperation of every loyal Adonian that keeps it there.

Already thirteen hundred enthusiasts—boys and girls enrolled in our various home economics courses—claim membership. Each class has a separate organization of officers, the president of which meets with the other class presidents in the Executive Council, the nucleus of the entire club.

The club's work is related to the regular curricular course, but it includes rallies and conventions galore, plus the sponsorship of the annual spring style show which was held April 2 this year. As a result of its theme this year—"The Future Homemaker's Place in National Defense"—Uncle Sam can rest assured that at least thirteen hundred Americans will eat, dress, and live conservatively.

Platonians practice parliamentary law.

"Sugar and spice and all that's nice, that's what the Platonians are made of," for a finer group of girls is not easily found. With their spring dance of May 17 they added a bright spark to Austin High social life. But they do more than "socialize"—they are literary-minded lasses, interested in the lives and literature of well-known authors, as evidenced by those lively discussions at club periods.

The gold shield engraved with a sword and the letters PLS, linked to the graduation numeral by a tiny chain, has been proudly displayed since 1932, when several bright young lasses felt the need for the addition of another society to the high school roster. Many times since then Platonian graduates have regretfully bid goodbye to a really swell society.

TWIRLING SQUAD

Those snappy strapping little strutters all ready to twirl their stuff.

The Twirling Squad was organized two years ago and has been a tip-top organization ever since. Though small in number, these Maroon Twirlers have followed our football team to all its games and cheered it on to victory. Not only do these "Twirling Skirts" perform intricate drills similar to the Red Jackets, but at the same time they do some tricky twirling.

Former Drum Major Erwin Gathright has put out many hours of hard work in teaching these girls to do their figure eights and wrist twirls, and the girls have spent many more hours practicing in front of mother's best hall mirror—that is, when mother wasn't looking. They have really been an asset to our games. That's why we are all looking forward to seeing them again next fall.

High spots the KWANNON social season—dinner and all the trimmings at the P. K.

Stepping right into the limelight of Austin High's clubs is the Kwannon Literary Society. From its organization last spring by twenty-eight enthusiastic girls, this infant has really made long strides.

This year a pleasing variety of programs made the members realize that they were well on the road to success. In these ranks are certain young ladies who are talented in singing. There are certain other young ladies who are amateur actresses. Both found their place in the programs. Then there was a movie quiz in which everyone participated. Adding still further variety were their talks on personal grooming.

The entertaining end has been satisfied by a slumber party, a banquet at the P. K. Grill, and a weiner roast.

A long life to you, Kwannon!

With thirty smart girls learning to "see themselves as others see them" how can Austin High School help being proud of its beauties? Some of the club programs are devoted to outside speakers who talk to the members on dress designs, the use of accessories, cosmetics, and coiffures, while others include discussions on personality.

Not all of their time is spent at mirrors, however; they have a picnic each semester, and they climaxed their social affairs this year with a formal at the Boy Scout Hut on April 18.

We hope that these jolly self-see-ers will continue to "practice what they preach" because up to now they have shown us they really know how.

"Does anybody 'round here have some red curtains? Well-l, the set looks fair enough, but—" When you hear the above sounds you'll know the Red Dragons are at it again. These budding young Barrymores and Bernhardts present any number of plays every year.

This year Miss Juanita Simpson, the new sponsor, did some very clever directing. The fall production was "Through the Night," a "good ol' murder mystery." The spring success was "Pride and Prejudice," a full cast "costume" play, difficult, but, ahl so delightful. Then in April the players gave us a program of three one-act plays, "Sham," "Saved," and "Command Performance."

The same "Sham" won first in the one-act play district meet, while its stars, Gay Cole Howard and Frank Sanderford, copped regional honors for individual acting.

Sports gain the spotlight when the G. A. S.'s start the intramural wheel rolling. There's hardly a girl who hasn't enjoyed the advantages of their yearly program. And who hasn't heard of the success of the Vice-Versa of December 14?

These feminine athletes are the true out-of-doors type, much preferring a hike into Mother Nature's unadulterated realm to a light social function. If you have ever chanced to wander close to the girls' gym on a Wednesday afternoon, you have heard a buzzing and sudden pause as the sergeant-at-arms yells at the top of her lungs for the group to maintain silence.

With a love game here and a strike-out there, we watch the merry fifty rush along.

A club comprised only of members and prospective members of football—that's the Gridiron Club. Their purpose is to form a better team to win more games for Austin High. In order to have a perfected team with teamwork that clicks, the Gridiron Club spends the non-football season learning the fundamentals of every play, mapping out new plays that could be used, and studying the general rules of the game.

At the meetings of the Gridiron Club, the members have the pleasure of listening to distinguished speakers, such as Coach Dana X. Bible of the University of Texas. In addition they see movies of football games played by other teams, and point out the errors made. In so doing they learn the mistakes not to make themselves.

Austin High has plenty to be proud of in a club whose activities are so helpful to all its members.

Wonderful, but wait! These energetic news-bugs also pour out their abundant adjectives and photo-ability into a new "Life" size magazine, "The Hi-Spy," made up of scenes from the daily lives of the king and queen nominees, a dawn to dance account of a high school miss, plus various other shots, scenes, and stories pleasing to the eye as well as to the good ol' school spirit.

The midnight oil may burn on those fateful Wednesday deadlines, but that printed copy the next Tuesday is more than worth it!

The COMET Staff silently goes crazy getting the COMET together.

Second row: FitzGerald, Gillespie, Goldberg, Hawkins, Johnson, Knees.

Those funny photographers who snoop around catching people unawares, those slap-happy staff members who fly down the halls chasing facts and figures for publication, that much be-peopled, be-papered, and be-glued cell across from T4—that's all Comet property. And the Comet—well, it's been busy for nearly half a century, recording in annual volumes the life history of our school.

It's a funny thing, this Comet. It keeps nearly two dozen people with their shoulders to the wheel from September to May, planning, preparing, and pasting; then after a delayed debut, it makes two dozen weary producers plus 850 worried purchasers heave a sigh of relief.

Besides the fifteen literary staff-ers, three artistic brains applied their talent to this year's Comet, while half a dozen high pressure salesmen walked their soles through selling advertisements to help balance the budget.

The Business Staff finds plenty to do.

Again this year, Miss Mary Bell Granger as literary sponsor, Mrs. Basdall Gardner as art supervisor, and W. A. Guinn as business manager have directed and coordinated the work of the staff. When these faculty supervisors were occupied with their curricular duties, the two quiet, unassuming editors, Doris Stork and Madison Mills, won the admiration of the entire staff by unofficially supervising the work, praising that which was good, and making helpful suggestions where they were needed.

Staff members, in addition to staff work, diversified their activities and found their way into places in declamation, essay, and slogan contests. Organizations, such as Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, Gold R, and Student Council also claimed their quota.

This is the staff which worked early and late, six and even seven days of those last fateful weeks, some limiting, some diversifying their abilities in the various jobs, to bring to the students of Austin High a pictorial review of themselves during the past year.

Joyful journalists give us the grin in an informal pose.

They aren't the usual socialites, these O. Henry Quill and Scroll-ers. They're much too busy journalizing via Maroon and Comet to go in for high falutin' functions often. In fact their only real formalities this year were two candlelight initiation services; but they also had a lovely job of host playing for the Interscholastic League Press Conference meet here, May 2 and 3—and they did it well too!

It's a rare thing for typewriter pounding journalists to venture far from the copy desk, but our little band of O. Henry's made it to the fall THSPA meeting in Denton, and brought back the latest line of journalistic tricks. Now they're poundin' harder than ever on the old keyboards working off that pent-up enthusiasm.

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS

"Hey, can you play ping-pong today?"

"What about playing volleyball?"

"Please play baseball tomorrow afternoon, will ya?"

Such remarks as the above can be heard at any time of the day or night after the first announcement to this effect: "Girls' Intramurals start this week." The "man behind the scenes" in these yearly intramural sports contests is a group of energetic club representatives who manage the intricate details of who plays whom, when, and where.

When the planning is done, and the intramural tournament is finished, the Intramural Managers sit back and heave a sigh of relief—but they love it!

Regular young orators are the Forensic Researchers. This score of livewires gives extemporaneous speeches ranging from eloquent orations to heated debates, all of which forms an interesting and educational club hour. The members must be on their toes continuously, for topics vary from intercollegiate football to modern warfare in Europe. The "Gene Stratton-Porter Club" which dated back to the year 1923, constituted the nucleus of this club which has since been rechristened "Nature Science II" and "Research Club." Now under its fourth name, it still holds an esteemed place among Austin High's clubs, partly because its aim—"to seek the truth"—is immortal, and partly because those Researchers have made it so. May it see another eighteen years pass as successfully as the first!

Organized in 1927 by several science-hungry students, this Young-Tharp-Schultz Botanical Society is well on its way now to real success.

Several term projects this year have been unusually successful and have gained honor for both the "scientist" and his club: Marjorie Holcomb's "Preparation of Cosmetics," and Billie Riesenecker's "The Use of Native Shrubs and Wild Flowers in Landscaping" won Austin Junior Academy of Science awards.

So search away, future Agassizs and keep up the good work, because we'll need scientists in 1950, too!

"To be rather than to seem" makes a good motto for these modern Roman scholars, the Sodalitas Latin-ites. The club's programs include such lively discussions of Roman culture with plenty of colorful lantern slides, that it is with genuine enthusiasm that the group frequently forgets the present in the gala celebration of an ancient Roman holiday. Even the initiation services capture the pomp and ceremony of the past, as the new members pledge to hold high the torch of classical learning.

Recently the club affiliated with the Junior Classical League, and in June they are to be hosts to the state convention of that extensive national organization.

Don't dare think of these club members as bookworms and musty old classicists though. They are as wide-awake a bunch of American boys and girls as is to be found.

Excelsior, Sodalitas Latina!

"The Rainbow," they call it, and they're right, as illustrated by their colorful club meetings. This enthusiastic Spanish group modernizes the quaint old customs of a European Spain with the exotic influence of the Latin-Americas.

Perpetuating their interest in things Spanish are their emblem, the cactus, and their colors red, white, and green. With this their motto, "Saber es poder"—to know is to be able, they have succeeded in bringing to Austin High a club that has really shown it is something worth belonging to. These 40 members every club day enjoy a program of Spanish influence furnished by slides, stories, and dances.

So here's to our twelve-year-old success story!

Maybe you like Spanish, and maybe you don't. At any rate you'll be interested in the activities of the members of Los Habladores, an outstanding Austin High Spanish club. The words "Los Habladores" mean "The Prattlers," and the club newspaper, "Charla Chistosa," demonstrates the fact that they believe in living up to their name. It is published bi-weekly and distributed to the members during club meeting. "Knewsy" and "Knowsy" are the fictitious character editors of this enterprise.

The members keep in touch with the manners and customs of our Latin-American neighbors by reports and slides; but they don't forget Spain in their study of things closer home.

By way of entertainment musical selections, Mexican and Spanish dances, skits, and games are combined to bring about a happy combination of learning and play in the program.

La Tertulia fosters Latin-American friendship.

Wouldn't we all love to be as proficient in Spanish as some of the linguists we hear babbling away like that proverbial brook? The quickest way we know to develop interest in these loquacious Latins is to join a club we have right here in Austin High—La Tertulia.

Each club day members sing songs, dance folk dances, see slides on Mexican life, give one-act plays in Spanish or hear interesting reports on the Floating Gardens of Xochimilco or the hidden convent of Puebla.

Cooperation with the Pan-American Student Forum and affiliated organizations keeps La Tertulia up to the best of standards.

Once a year La Tertulia turns out and gives a picnic, complete with tortillas, enchiladas, and of course, some good ol' American pickles.

We've a clever little club in our school, our Le Cercle Francais. It's more than a "laboratory" for oral French exercises; it's a real sanctuary for the culture of a vanquished nation, and at the same time it is one of the friendliest, chummiest groups in school.

Those seventeen sprightly scholars who spend each club day Frenchifying their Texan drawls are first and foremost Americans; but there is something strangely fascinating in the traditional celebration of the "Fete de Noel" or the "Fete de St. Charlemagne" a la France.

For the quarter of a century since the club's beginning, a tiny gold fleur-de-lis has been officially symbolic of the club, while the Cercle itself is a perpetuation of that spirit which American, though it be, makes "Viva la France!" its motto.

The purpose, "maintain, create, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character," is really held up as the goal for which to strive. To attain it the boys meet on Wednesday nights in T10 to listen to a speaker whose subject may be religion or criminology, or they may see a movie which broadens their experience and outlook on life. Then at one meeting the boys played basketball and volleyball in the gym and afterward enjoyed cokes.

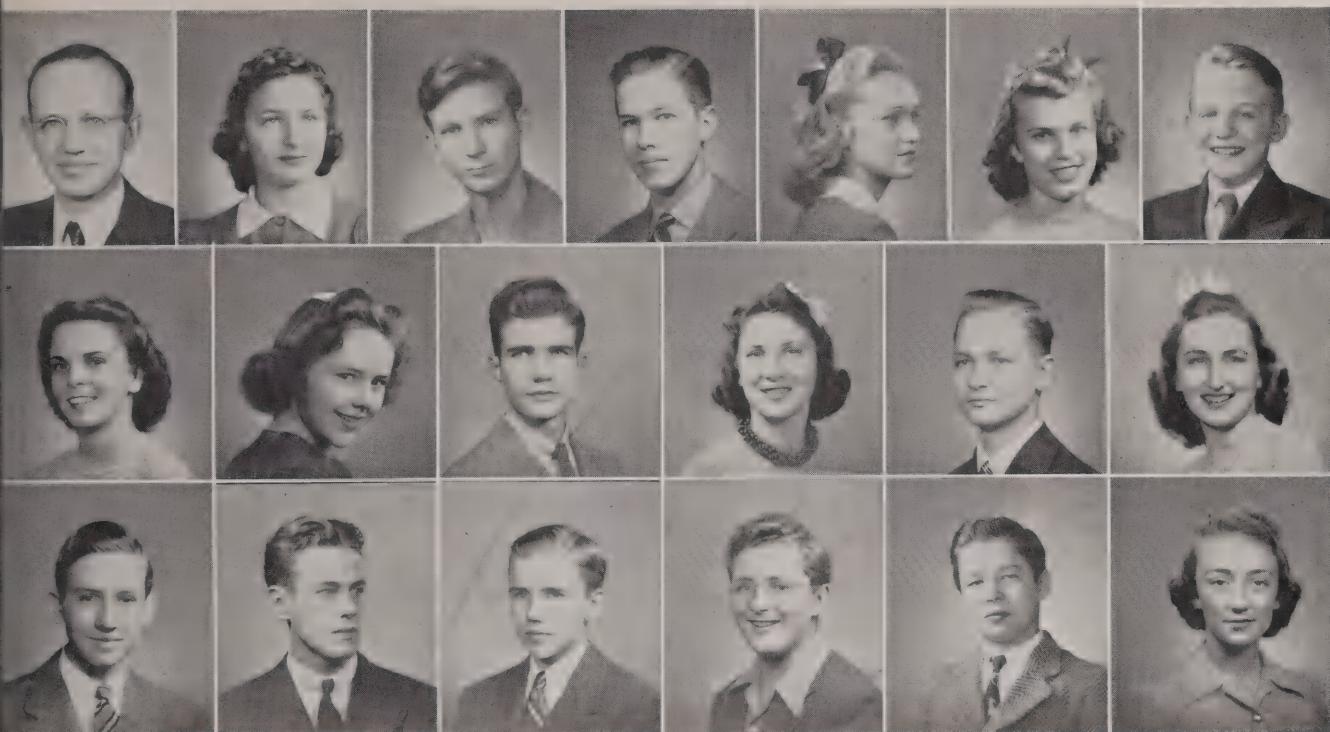

We have a hunch that a club with the foundation this one has won't easily be uprooted from Austin High "soil."

Catching up on facts and figures for future hot debates.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE

The year 1940-1941 has been an "annus mirabilis" for our Austin High interscholastic debaters, partly because of Chase Winfrey's peppy coaching and partly because of the united enthusiasm of the twenty-one squad members. Since early last fall when seventy-five aspirants turned out for squad work, Coach Winfrey has been busy weeding out the unfit and developing a debate program, the most intensive and extensive in Texas.

They've gone places this year—geographically and triumphantly. At the Alamo Heights Invitation Tournament in San Antonio, and at the South Texas Debate Tournament in Yoakum, the girls' first team, Joanne Macow and Dorothy Heep, won first and copped the district title at Georgetown. They were runners-up in the Baylor University Tournament and in the annual Austin Invitation Tournament. The first boys' team, Banks McLaurin and Theo Painter, was stiff competition in any tournament.

Louis Porter and John Graham won first in the boys' division in the Austin Invitation meet; Richard Hardin and Walter Moore were runners-up in the same tournament, while Louis and Walter teamed together, took first place in the Taylor Invitation Tournament. Other winning combinations were Margaret McKean and Faye Heinsohn who won second in Taylor; and a Stena Jean Caldwell-Grace Lester team which took second at the Yoakum meet. They were all first rate material to which our own Alma Mater lent inspiration.

INTRAMURAL DEBATE

Intramural Debate was a systematic success due to Miss Mary Farley's and Chase Winfrey's sponsorability. One-hundred-and-one eager arguers entered the tournament and ninety-seven fell by the wayside. The conquering teams were both independents. Winners from the boys' division were Louis Porter and John Graham; from the girls', Mary Hart Law and Earline Milstead, all of whom were duly presented and be-medalled by the Speech Department in a school assembly.

INTERSCHOLASTIC EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

The old world had its Cicero and Sophocles, but Austin High has its own brand of orators in its dozen Interscholastic Extemp Squadsters.

Under the enthusiastic coaching of G. W. Wier, they've really "gone places" this year, geographically to seven speech tournaments, and triumphantly to four top place titles plus dozens of other awards of merit.

Bill Byrne, rated "excellent" in the San Marcos tournament, took first at Taylor, second in the Austin tournament, and copped the district title at Georgetown.

Constance Bartlett, "excellent" in San Marcos, won first in Austin and third at John Reagan (Houston), to take second at district meet.

Ethel Mae Benson piled up an "excellent" reputation at San Marcos, two seconds, a third, and a fourth, and served as district alternate for the girls.

Eleanor Tacquard, too, was rated "excellent" at San Marcos, and lived up to it by winning a second, a third, and a fifth place.

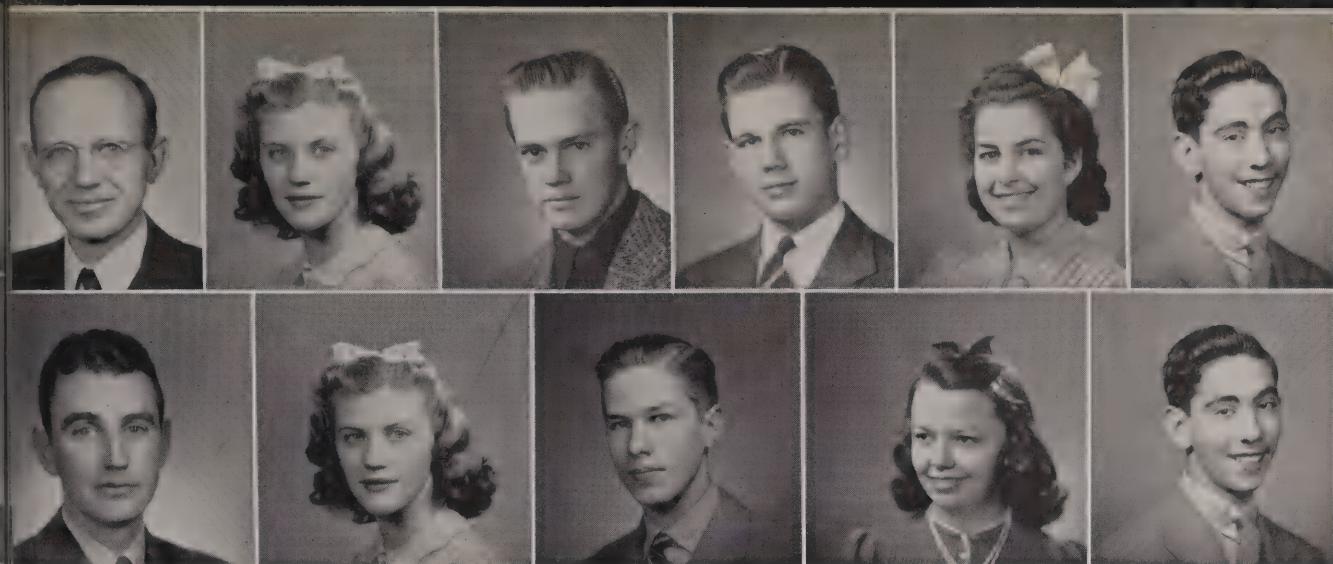

Josef Weinberger won first in the boys division at the Austin Tournament, while seven other squad members were ranked "good" in the San Marcos tournament.

INTRAMURAL EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

Austin High's speech enthusiasts turned out sixty strong for the intramural extemp battle last fall. Having covered the ground from current events to economics—and well, too, under the supervision of G. W. Wier, eight girls and six boys entered the final from which emerged these victors: In the Girls' Division Constance Bartlett placed first; Margaret Thomas, second; Eleanor Tacquard, third. In the boys' Division Bill Byrne won first; Josef Weinberger, second; Allan Poindexter, third. Other entries were Katherine Backus, Vivian Knox, Ethel Mae Benson, Kit Stowell, Dorothy Hutter, Joe Robinson, Robert Lucas, and Knox Shelton.

First row: Winfrey, Rainey, Pryor, York, Dare, Goodfriend. Second row: Burns, Rainey, Hardin, Maynard, Goodfriend.

Shaking to their toes, and keeping their fingers crossed for fear they would "forget," seventy-five youthful orators spoke their pieces in the annual intramural declamation contest, and sat down. After a long deliberation, the judges announced the following winners:

Senior girl, Helen Rainey; Senior boys, Richard Pryor, Edwin York; Junior girl, Virginia Dare; Junior Boy, Melvin Goodfriend.

Not having been daunted by previous intramural battles, twenty boys and girls entered the Interscholastic preliminaries. From that number the judges chose Helen Rainey and Dick Hardin in the Senior Division; Carol Maynard and Melvin Goodfriend in the Junior Section to be trained by Coaches Chase Winfrey and Bert Burns for the Interscholastic League Meets. These speakers proved themselves at the District Meet at Georgetown where Dick took first place and Melvin won third in the Junior Division.

At San Marcos Dick again showed his prowess by walking off with the Regional Contest.

In Austin at the State Finals, Dick took Fourth Place, which closed a successful season for Austin High Speakers.

Forum leaders look happily interested—don't they?

From "China and Its People" to "Personality," forum topic posters bedeck each discussion room, changing location every two weeks to keep pace with the leaders. The latter carry their subject to a different group each Tuesday, speaking with renewed vigor as they launch again into the subject of their choice.

A well prepared speech never lacks listeners, nor does it lack questions or comments; but if by some strange quirk, that audience is not in a talkative mood, an x-ray view of the leader's mind would disclose the words, "wellllll talk!" or their equivalent.

Open to those who find leading or participating a pleasure, Austin High's student forum is soaring high.

It's a queer organization, this Forum Council. It is primarily intended as a council of peace, an official "go-between" between the stirring oratory of the Forum leading clan and their oftentimes spell-bound audiences. It claims some councilmen, one from each Forum group, plus the regular roll of Forum leaders, all of whom do their bits toward improvement of the regular Forum discussion plan through hectic discussions and constructive criticisms of their own. In other words, it is a clever representation project which helps give the students a chance to "Forum-ulate" their own Forum. They don't go in for social activities—their affairs are strictly Forum business, and they do it well, too!

Council sponsors surgery to save our trees.

"Let's have the clocks in the annex fixed."

"Oh, it costs too much."

"Well, what did we have them put there for, anyway?"

"So we could tell the time."

"Pardon me, but when are we going to have our spring dance?"

"Order, please, order!"

This is a key-hole glimpse of the Student Council, that organization which gives the student body a chance to voice its feeling and to exercise its privilege of self-government by proxy. Each advisory elects an official go-between to represent the interests of his group in the weekly council sessions and to report proceedings of the council to the advisory.

Council executives consider weighty matters.

The Student Council annually has two "Penny Drives." The money from these goes to help needy students of Austin High. In addition to their welfare work, the Council supports the different organizations and activities of the school. Each semester it has a Student Council dance, the proceeds of which go to charity. Also it has sponsored several after-school nickel-odeon dances. Electing the boy yell leaders, keeping the school clean, seeing that the radio system and the clocks run, looking after the hall guard system—all these and many more are the duties of the Council.

Every semester there is considerable excitement the second or third week because of the coming election for Student Council president. The nominees are selected by the Council and then every one of the 2,815 students of Austin High votes for the candidate of his choice. Hence being elected president is one of the greatest honors of our school.

Our student council is a democratic organization and an integral part of our school life. We are all proud of the Council; so argue away and work hard, Council members. We're for you.

"To the left flank, march! Left, right, left! To the rear, march! Left, right, left! Counter right, march! . . . Dress left! . . . Left . . . left . . . left, right, left!" These sounds can be heard floating up from the athletic field every afternoon of the fall semester during the sixth period. If you are puzzled by the noise, you may now be enlightened . . . It is the sum total of 320 feet marching up and down, up and down, to the strains of officers' commands. The owners of these 320 feet are 160 Red Jackets.

These energetic girls are the ones you see doing those snappy drills between halves at the football games. They practice all week, and when Friday comes, a finished performance is ready for the fans.

Marching is not the only occupation of the Red Jackets, though. They often sponsor a big dance in the gym. However, this year for the annual dance they substituted several "after-the-game" nickelodeon dances.

In addition to these activities, they sponsor weekly rip-roaring pep rallies that give the Austin High School populace a chance to raise the roof and in general get in the mood for a good football game. Under the capable direction of Miss Betty Love Rugeley, sponsor and drill master, the Red Jackets have become a pre-eminent organization in Austin High.

Next year we shall see the Red Jackets again marching up and down the field to the tune of "left, right, left . . . to the left flank, march . . . left, right, left."

After such successes as "Little Lady," "Sixteen," and "Farewell To Love," there is no need to gild the Radio Guild. They live on their own merit and justify their existence by obeying Darwin's law of the survival of the fittest.

The Guilders really do the old school proud. Austin High students know that they can enjoy fifteen minutes of A-1 entertainment on almost any Thursday afternoon by turning the radio dial to KNOW at 5:15.

Altogether, there were about a dozen plays given during the past school year, but they did not constitute the entire repertory. There were two original scripts, two quiz programs, and two musicals. ("Two" must be their lucky number this year.)

Work deserves play; so the Guild had a picnic May 23 to climax its third successful year.

The music goes 'round and 'round and comes out here, "here" being the Music Building, the football field, contests, or wherever our Maroon band is to be found.

We're fairly bursting with pride because of our band. Snazzy uniforms, swell music, and marching really transmit pep to the football team and the colorful rooting stands. And how they march away with honors at contests, both collectively and individually!

The one hundred strong Maroon Band is one of the largest organizations in our school. This year Director Covington inaugurated a new system of section leaders for concert playing and squad leaders for marching.

Clarinets: Holeman, Adams, Johnson, Crockett, McFarland, Rogers, S., Arnum, Griffith, Ingalls, Mediary, Buzbee, Kyberg, Lyon, Schneider, Luckey, Fugler, Menke, Mann, Humphries, Martin, Kenyan, Ray, Gambrell.

Oboes: Crockett, Faubion.

Cornets: Anderson, Hopper, Von Rosenberg, Crowder, Smith, H., Jeffrey, Newman, Chernosky, Wilkerson, Danielson, Wright, Gates, Lee, McKee.

Basses: Tanner, Sandberg, Dearing, Wingard.

Bassoon: Penick.

Lights! Curtain! and the AUSTIN MAROON BAND swings into action.

With the able conducting and the aid of energetic Drum Major Moton Crockett and the two drum majorettes, Marie Allen and Elladean Rupert, the Band reached the peak of perfection. These music-makers walked off with a first division rating in both concert and sight reading at the state contest. As the Comet goes to press, the Band is preparing for the national contest to be held in Waco May 10.

The repertoire of the winter concert of January 31 and the spring finale of May 1 consisted of pieces ranging from "El Caballero" and "Richard III" to "Shortnin' Bread" and "Star Dust."

We're looking for a repetition of this record next year, for that same stirring roll of drums and fanfare of trumpets.

Relax, Cov.

Boots, boots, boots

A shrill, extenuated "tweet!" Then a red-capped lad hops bravely from the curb to the street and halts traffic with a mere twist of a wrist and an arm — and this, not once, but a hundred times a day, one hundred eighty-five days a year.

For five years now, they've been on the job—rain or shine, cold or hot—offering the same courteous brand of safety to our school goers in exchange for our cooperation.

They are well dressed heroes, too. Booted and be-slickered out in their rainy days' best, they wrestle competently with water and vehicles.

So keep right on "tooting" your whistles and waving your arms, Safety Patrollers. You're worth your weight in safety.

The GLEE CLUB busy "do-wray-mi-ing."

Do-re-mi, and then a trill or two from the struggling singers, is just common stuff to be heard from the north annex windows every morning. We'll pass lightly over the tearing of hair at classes, and turn to the good results.

This year the Glee Club has performed publicly numerous times. For example, it has sung for the P.T. A., over the radio, and for the Waco Lions Club. At Christmas time the Handel Society, a massed chorus including the Glee Club and anyone else who wants to participate, gave an outstanding performance of the Messiah, with which it hopes to set a precedent.

The Madrigal Singers, another interesting group formed from the Glee Club proper, have also performed with great success several times.

At contest these enterprising and talented people walked off with nearly everything, including many First Division ratings in solos, First Division in Girls' Chorus, Boys' Chorus, Mixed Chorus, Girls and Boys Mixed Sight Reading, and the new Madrigal Singers.

ORCHESTRA

Back to measure sixty-seven—and try again.

Austin High's Orchestra is a positively charged (not with electricity) sensation which has the power to produce music that is well worth hearing. Even a definition like this does not give full credit to the splendid performances of our orchestra. What a wonderful accompaniment they were at the presentation of the difficult "Messiah"! To give us one night of pleasure, they spent many hours of patient practicing.

Away at contests our orchestra does not fail us. When competition groups victoriously come back to Austin, and announcements are made of the winners, our orchestra always has its places—and mostly first places.

From drums to violins the orchestra is "tuned up" even at the end of a year's strenuous playing.

First Violin: Anderson, Boyd, Casiraghi, Cartright, Jackson, Kallgren, Leon, Schmedes, Seekatz. Second Violin: Arlitt, Burney, Champion, Esken, Fasel, Henry, Hoe, Jensen, Kretschmar, Lockwood, Lyon, McCoy, Risch. Viola: Buas, Campbell, Heath, Jones. A cloud of dust and a clatter of hooves around Biltmore Stables every Thursday afternoon usually signifies the presence of the Saddle Club, Austin High School's all-girl gift to boots and bridle-paths.

These equestrienne gadabouts usually sponsor two horse shows a year—one in the fall and a spring opener. Every spring they saddle their mares and canter down highways and byways to the back pasture in Camp Mabry where they indulge in the more vital art of demolishing hot dogs, potato chips, and marshmallows.

Any girl with an ability to ride or a yen to learn is eligible for membership, and those greenhorns learn horses from the ground up, and lots of the time, right back down again.

So giddy-up you Saddle Clubbers and bring home even more ribbons and cups to crowd that overflowing showcase!

No, the men behind the sounds are those twenty typical Sportsmen, from the four-year-old club of the same name. They are a harmless lot of humans, but they are also great game-bagging, fish-catching he-men, well versed in the wiles of nature.

The club programs this year included an interesting jumble of motion pictures on wildlife in South Texas, game law discussions, and outside "speaker-ing," with a good-sized dose of tall tale telling for each club day. Then in May, the club turned out "en masse" for an outing on the river, the climax of a whole year of fun.

They aren't real bookworms, not these Library Staff members. They are much too alert and intelligent to let reality catch them devouring the past in "A Tale of Two Cities" or "Twelfth Night." But they are certainly true book lovers, with a genuine respect for the printed page.

Furthermore, they know great literature when they see it, know the story, the author and its exact lodging place on the shelf. They're among the fortunate few who know their way around blindfolded in our library. And they are the chosen few who get to manipulate the stamper in checking out books.

They're accurate accountants in "library fine" points; they're sympathetic friends to the battered books (just take a peek below); and as aides to the bewildered book hunters—they're tops!

Dorothy Faulkner, vivacious vibrant "Oscar," makes a perfectly wonderful tomboy, but she's even better as Miss Faulkner, that smart young lovely who knows her way around executively (she's president of the 10B's), socially (she's a Hypatian and a G.A.A.er), and eye-catchingly (they simply don't come any cuter!)

Donald Stevenson, the handsome young man with the fascinating smile, really rates; he's officially 10B class Vice-President, a Senator, and a Hi-Y-er, plus being the quarry in plenty of feminine man-hunts and pal number 1 in just as many masculine minds.

• "Cowboy-ant," mechanical-minded BOONE KEMP tinkers around interestingly with his favorite mechanism in machine shop.

Handsome HARRY ROBERTSON • a regular hustler at the drawing board, is especially efficient at anything architectural.

• Wiry WILLIAM PATTON, mechanical-minded trade auto mechanic, gets a great kick out of tinkering around on his favorite motor.

Reliable ROMEO HERNANDEZ • this year's Student Directory printer, prepares another beautiful job in trade printing.

• Manly MARSHALL NICHOLS marshals up plenty of expert craftsmanship and produces an exquisite bit of metal work.

Grinning LE ROY GAULT, worker of wonders in woodwork, hammers away happily on another prize project.

It isn't shocking that electricity holds no jinx for JIMMY KASTNER, for his day is made up of experiments with watts, watts, and still more watts.

A newspaper is NEWELL MOORE whose knowledge of printing has won him the dubbing — "Austin High's Printer De Luxe."

Notable NOLAN VON ROEDER, dark and dashing Romeo of the traffic safety class, enforces his "Be Careful" with that famous smile.

Shapely MAXINE McMAINE • a nice bit of proportioning herself, has an authoritative eye for figure drawing in artwork.

Just give her a pencil and watch the results from bright-haired LILLIAN CHANCE'S "designing" fingers—they'd amaze a Schiaparelli! ■

Potential Titian-ite, PATSY RUTH LOVICK • shows a lambent touch and real "colorability" in artistic creations.

Working off some of her vim and vigor at the easel is slim, tomboyish MARIE FORBIS, first-rate object drawer of the art department. ■

Brunette • BARBARA WILKER-SON lends that masterly touch to all angles, shadows, and what-have-yous of art to cop the best all-round rating.

■ A model handy gal is MARTHA DANIEL when it comes to handicraft; her make-ability ranges from wood sandals to bookends.

• GRACE KLEIN, our own irrepressible "Gracie," fairly bubbles over with journalism, jokes, and the sheer joy of living.

Versatile MARY RICHEY leads a double life: she's a rough ridin' equestrienne on the bridle path, and a capable Florence Nightingale in Home Nursing Class.

"Pick a clever pattern, sew a fine seam, and then strut your snappy stuff," is petite JEAN BROOKS' advice to aspiring young seamstresses, and she ought to know.

Chic MARY ELIZABETH KNIGHT, a neat little number herself, plans a neat little home decoration project.

Affable ALICE WALLACE, sweet as they come, prepares lovely dishes of dainties irresistible to anyone's palate.

Sapient SALLY FOX demonstrates her shrewd talent for making folks look just right by her magic lines of fashions.

"Personalitous" HAROLD CAVENESS (alias "Happy") living up to his reputation as a gloom chaser, turns on the pressure in homecraft class.

Suave smoothie BOB FERGUSON demonstrates the art of how to live at home and like it as analyzed in Home Living I class.

Captain RICHARD REUTER, best Safety Patrol officer and a real reg'lar fella, makes a tactful director of both traffic and traffic patrolman.

MATHIS BLACKSTOCK, lab-orator de luxe, expounds the mysteries of his Academy of Science project "Identification of Wood by Microscopic Examination."

Small, but chockfull of mechanical talent, is HARVEY WITTER, who draws everything from house plans to air-castles—and does it to scale, too!

Capable DOROTHY CAUSEY proficiencies herself right up the science scale and hits the top with her Bausch Lomb award for girls.

LOLA LEE DYESS searches and researches on the circulatory system of cats to keep fit as the outstanding girl scientist in Texas.

Five feet seven inches of studiosity, DOROTHY KLINGEMANN clicks as both a student and a home manager.

Magician MARJORIE HOLCOMB, physical science winner in the Austin Academy of Science Meet, mixes up a conglomeration of chemicals—and presto! cosmetics for milady.

Boyish BILLIE RIESENECKER, Austin Academy of Science prodigy, uses native shrubs and wildflowers in her landscaping project in the biological science department—and wins!

Kaleidoscopic KATHRYN BACK-US is a gal of many moods: she's a willful Elizabeth Bennett in "Pride and Prejudice"; a matronly Mrs. Wood in "June Mad," and a lovely heroine in "The Romancers," but she stars in her everyday role as "Kitty."

Red Dragon stage manager BEN WAYNE GREIG is a born success at the manipulation of everything from artificial sunlight to real Red Dragon stars.

Left: Athletic SHELBY FRIZZELL, state tennis champ, swings a graceful racquet on the courts, but saves plenty of rhythmability for her glee club "do-re-mi's."

Kampus Kutie KATHRYN JACKSON cuts a caper or two on her violin to keep those shapely fingers nimble for winning more Rubinoff medals.

Rollicking PHIL ROGERS, Maroon "band-it" rouses the world in general with his jazzy, snazzy trombone tootin'.

Big burly DUANE COLTHARP, Maroon end, exhibits his Chamber of Commerce cup award for the best blocking and tackling job of the year, while dynamic All-State quarterback RAYMOND JONES displays his trophy for the most valuable brand of football.

THELMA DILLINGHAM

THROUGH A BLIND MAN'S EYES

The sky is infinity,
Clothed in a shroud
Of damp chilling mistiness
Defined as a cloud.

The bird is a lyric,
A clear lilting tune
Which rises in volume
From April to June.

A flower is sweetness
Which calls to the bees.
The soft whisp'ring rustles,
They tell me, are trees.

The earth harbors mustiness,
Earthworms, and stone.
The light is a splendor
I never have known.

With one all-state back and three other backfield men graduating along with several starting linemen, the Austin Maroons should have been wailing and mourning their fate for the coming season, as most teams would under similar conditions. But not the Maroons! True, the dream backfield of Raven, Lewis, Lucius, and Nelson had graduated along with both starting tackles and one of the regular guards. But the Maroons had Romeo Raymond Jones, the Livingston transfer, to fill Raven's shoes; Barrell Cox took the place of Nelson, Austin's great blocking back of the season before; and Otto Glauninger and Charley Munson filled in at the other two backfield posts. They had the two lettermen ends, Duane Coltharp and Jack Allison, and the all-district center, J. B. Giles. They had Arvel Johnson and George Sutherland to take the place of Dippery and Larson at tackles, and Walter Schwarzer and Jack Swenson to fill the guard posts. Summing up the situation, they had an experienced team ready for competition at the beginning of the 1940 season.

Kelso skirts Temple's end.

San Marcos

The San Marcos Rattlers came to town bolstered by ineligible players who were agreed on beforehand by the two coaches. These players were eligible when the game was scheduled but the new eight-semester rule for Class A teams made them ineligible.

Jones provided the game's only score when he ripped off a 53-yard run almost before the spectators were settled in their seats. The Maroons held to the usual early form of starting slowly and getting their bearings under the first competition of the year.

Standard Lambert came to Austin from Temple High School, the school which he had played for in his high school days. Lambert, a product of Texas Christian University, where he majored in English and journalism, and was sports editor of the "Skiff," student newspaper, was a bulldog guard and one of the most feared linemen in the Southwest in his day. He became head football coach at Austin High when Bennie Strickland, former director of athletics, took over the directorship and found his duties too many to include coaching the football team. Lambert numbers several stars among his pupils in the last six years at Austin High. Ralph Park, currently in the backfield of the Texas University Longhorns, and Travis Raven, all-state tailback and high scorer in Class AA football in Texas in 1939, are the two most prominent.

Forest Avenue

With a barrage of passes falling all around them, the Maroons had a hard time beating the Forest Avenue Lions of Dallas in the second game of the season. Raymond Jones finally went over, and Jack Allison kicked the goal for the lone tallies of the game. The green-clad boys, sparked by Ernest Gentner, nearly caused heart failure before Jones' score.

Temple

Revenge! How sweet it is! For the Temple Wildcats, our conquerors for the last ten years, went home like timid kittens. The score was only 6-0, because two touchdowns were called back, but there was never any doubt as to who the winner would be, because the Austinites were figuratively out for blood.

Top down: Raymond Jones, fullback; Ferris Nassour, halfback; Barrell Cox, quarterback. Left to right: Charlie Munson, fullback; Carroll Gillespie, manager; George Beard, manager; Fred Hearn, manager.

Jones, Sutherland, Cox, advance into Jefferson territory.

Cleburne

Sparked by Raymond Jones' powerhouse running, the Maroons ran up their first big score of the season when they removed the stingers of the Cleburne Yellow Jackets by a score of 27-0. Pat O'Donnell, Jones' substitute, showed up well when he made successive runs of 25 and 44 yards. The Maroons really snapped out of the lethargy which had held them to low scores in the preceding games, and reeled off gain after gain to leave no doubt in the minds of the spectators as to the victors.

Thomas Jefferson

Thomas Jefferson was our first District opponent, and they were convincingly defeated by a score of 21-0. The Maroons scored in the first two minutes of the game when Captain J. B. Giles intercepted a pass and returned it 25 yards for a touchdown. Jones then ran 27 yards for the second touchdown, and finally, late in the game, passed to Dutch Glauninger for the final score. This game had some individual competition in addition to that of the two teams. J. B. Giles had some friendly rivalry with Bruzzie Reeves, Jefferson guard, with whom he had spent the summer at camp.

George Guerrero, center.

Jones displays his prowess and his famous 00 number!

Brackenridge

The annual San Antonio excursion was to the new Alamo Stadium, instead of to Eagle Field, and in the new stadium, the disaster which caused Austin to be known as the 2-point team happened. The Brack Eagles, led by the line-bucking Snipes and the fleet-footed Anderson, beat the Crimson 14-12. Austin was way off its game, and—well, we were beaten. There was still a chance, though, because if Brack were beaten later on, it would again be a tie for the championship.

Top to bottom: Sutherland, tackle; Swenson, guard; Schwarzer, guard; Talley, guard.

Laredo

After the disheartening loss to Brackenridge the preceding week, the Maroons came back to Austin and beat the Laredo Tigers in a muddy game, 25-0. Jones was still going strong along with Charlie Munson and the two ends, Coltharp and Allison.

Harlandale

Harlandale, the perennial cellar-occupant of the District, made a visit to House Park the week following the Laredo game and were methodically whipped by the Crimsons, 33-0. It took the Maroons only five plays to score as a result of a 20-yard pass from Jones to Coltharp who was waiting in the end zone.

Harlandale will not be in this district next season since they have been transferred to Class A bracket.

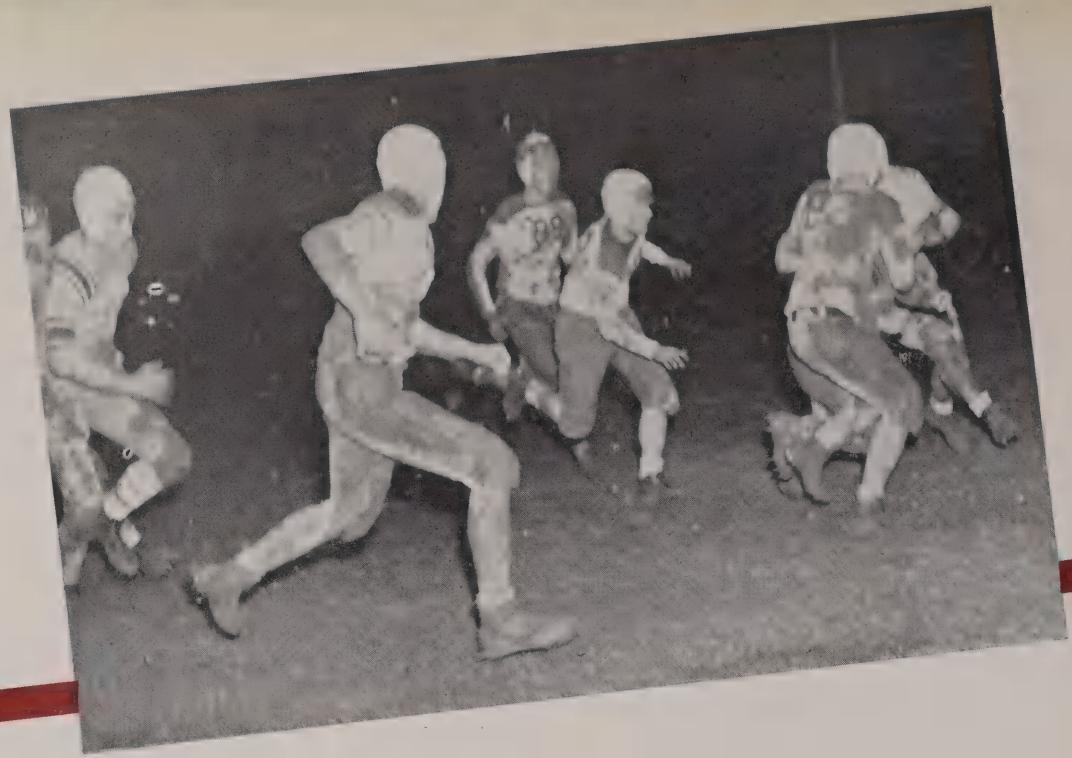

Tech

In the most hilarious game of the season, the Maroons, playing without Raymond Jones, and (in the pouring rain) without their padded pants, literally submerged the Tech Buffaloes in the House Park Lake, 57-0. Jones was out because of a cold, but his place was ably taken by Pat O'Donnell, whose running and passing were features of the game.

Right: McCuiston, end. Below, left to right: Giles, center; Harkins, end; McCabe, center.

Laredo backfield converges on Austin backfield runner.

Kerrville

The Maroons went into the Tivy game needing a 15-0 score to win the District crown, as Laredo had been found ineligible and their victory over the Tivy team had been forfeited. Well, we got 13 of those points, but the 2-point jinx came up again, and Austin High said "good-bye" to another football season.

TRACK

With one of the best quartets of trackmen that Austin High has ever seen lost by graduation, the Austin High track team for 1940 started into the season with hopes of winning the district and not much else. Ralph Park, Murph Nelson, Homer Mayhall, and Frank Covert had graduated and Coach Johnny Keel had only five lettermen to build the team around. They were Captain Robert Wright in the 880-yard run, Pete Lewis in the 440, Cliff Kies and Tom Lemon in the sprints, and A. O. Martin in the pole vault.

There was a welcome addition to the team when "Ramblin'" Ray Jones came out and started stepping over the hurdles in a way to amaze the spectators. Other discoveries were Randle Patrick and Roger Craig in the high jump, Arvel Johnson and George Sutherland in the weights, and M. N. Garcia in the javelin.

These, added to the lettermen, made a very talented squad and hopes were high for a title.

In the first meet at Memorial stadium, Austin won over five other teams, doubling the score of the nearest opponents. Jones won both hurdle events and showed that he would be one of the best hurdlers in the state by the end of the season. Tom Lemon met and was defeated by the fellow who was to be his Nemesis in most of the meets of the year, Ollie Clark of Taylor. In the Cameron relays, the Maroons tied for third with John Reagan of Houston, losing to Elgin and to Jeff Davis of Houston.

The Crimson was beaten for the first time in several years at the Lockhart Relays when they were defeated by the fine Elgin team and tied by Karnes City.

At the district meet, the Maroons came through with their sixth district win, with Jones capturing both hurdle events and the broad jump; Patrick tying for first place in the high jump; Lemon winning the 100-yard dash; Arvel Johnson winning the shot put; and Martin winning the pole vault.

Regional came next, and Austin was fourth with a strong Brackenridge team from San Antonio taking top honors.

At the State Meet, Jones, Austin's only entry, ran fourth to Denzil Kennemer of Iraan who steamed away from all competitors.

Coach Keel expressed hopes for the next season with Jones, Patrick, and Johnson all returning for further competition.

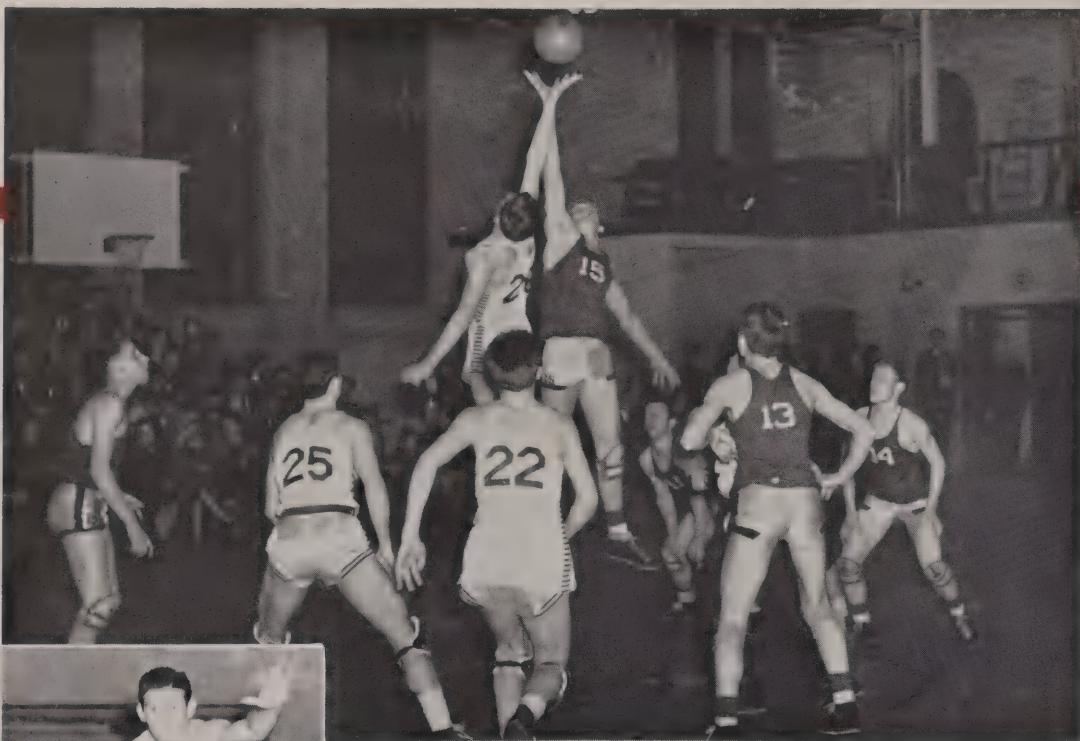

Johnny Keel, genial athletic director, track coach, and B squad football coach, has made everybody his friend since he came to Austin. Keel's only claim to fame in the athletic field was being manager of the 1930 Texas University football team, but he has such an understanding of the game that he was assigned to coach the B team as soon as he got here.

His first love is track. He can sit and talk for hours about this sport and talk about some phases of it that would bewilder the average person.

He was just the track coach and B football coach until Benny Strickland resigned; then he was given the position of athletic director. One of his first acts in his new office was to do away with the old point system and give sweaters or jackets to lettermen in football, basketball, track, and tennis.

Right—top to bottom: Coach Keel checks time; Wright, relay; Griesenbeck and Craig, vaulters.

Twenty-four out of twenty-nine games won! And only second in the district running!

The Maroon basketball team had this sad story to tell at the end of the season, all because of a team that they had beaten three times during the season rose up to unexpected heights and beat them 32-38.

The San Marcos Rattlers turned this trick in the finals of the District 23 meet, after the Maroons had beaten them 32-26, 30-28, 31-29 during the season.

The Maroons, boasting an experienced team in every position, won first places at the Lockhart, Shiner, and San Antonio invitation tournaments. They were runners-up at the Houston invitation tournament, being beaten in the finals by Jeff Davis of Houston, 39-21.

B A S K E T B A L L

Brackenridge of San Antonio was the first team to beat the Capital City five. The score of this game was 26-24. Others to beat the Crimsons were the Rattlers with the above score; Jeff Davis, in the finals of the Houston tourney; and Waco, winning one of the series of four games that they played against the Maroons.

Standouts in the line-up for the Maroons through the season were Raymond Jones and Hutchie Bass. Bass, tall center, was high scorer of the team for the season, and always under the basket for the tip-in shots, while Jones, husky football star, was one of the most aggressive players on the floor at all times. Jones and Bass were named to the All-tournament teams at the Lockhart, Shiner and San Antonio tournaments, and Jones was all-tourney at the Houston tournaments.

Other standouts during the season were Nelson Davis, fiery ball-hawk, Ruben Ortega, small but mighty guard, and Pat O'Donnell, sharp-shooter extraordinary.

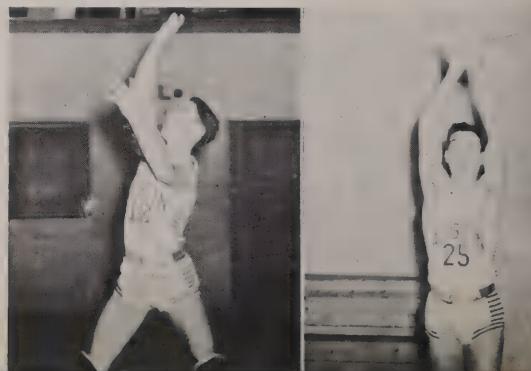

Pat O'Donnell goes after 2 points against San Marcos.

baseball

With five all-state lettermen returning, Coach Tony Burger started dreaming about a state championship for his 1940 baseball team. Half way through the season, this dream was dashed on the rocks when it was announced that the tournament was to have eligibility rules. This left the Maroons behind the proverbial eight ball because the team was built around eight ineligible players. With the season too far gone to rebuild the team, Coach Burger set out to show the people of Texas that if the Maroons had been in the state tourney, they would have given a good account of themselves.

Returning lettermen were Rueben Ortega, all-state shortstop; Charley Wolfe, all-state catcher; Joe Rander-son, reserve catcher; Clarence Glendening, first-baseman; Leroy Jarl, all-state pitcher; Barry Pool, all-state second baseman; and Jimmy Munro, all-state third baseman.

The Maroons started the season by taking two games from Bertram by scores of 8-1 and 6-2. Then they defeated Liberty Hill 20-3. After the Liberty Hill game they took on their main rivals, the Hondo Owls, and with Leroy Jarl besting Clinton Hartung, the Hondo ace, in a pitcher's duel, Hondo went home on the short end of a 7-2 score.

Another rival, the San Marcos Academy Cubs, came, saw and were conquered by the heavy bats of the Austin team to the tune of 19-8. Then the Maroons journeyed to Hondo for a return battle with the Owls, and this time Hartung won the pitching battle and the Maroons lost 6-5.

Not disheartened by the Hondo defeat, the Crimson went out to Freshman field and took the measure of the Frosh 6-4. Then they took their annual trip to San Marcos for a return engagement with the Cubs and lost their second game of the season by a score of 5-2.

After this second defeat, the Maroons went back to Freshman field and again gave the Frosh a whipping. The score was 24-14. After that, an exhibition game with Elgin gave the Austin team another victory with a score of 9-5. In the last game of the season the Maroons edged out Allen Academy by the bare margin of 5-4.

TENNIS

The Austin High tennis squad of 1940 boasted one of the best boys' doubles teams and one of the best girls' singles players in the state, but all their efforts toward a state tennis championship were for naught, when the boys, Billy Selby and Clarence Goen, were beaten by the Thomas Jefferson team, and Shelby Frizzell, the girl, was beaten by Ethel Norton, the state champ from Jefferson.

In the preliminary meet of the year, the Maroons beat a very good Georgetown team 7-6, Saturday, March 16.

Shelby Frizzell beat the girls' champ of Georgetown, Marjorie Godbey, 6-1, 6-2.

The boys' doubles team of Selby and Goen won their match 8-6, 6-2.

Other winners in this meet were as follows:

Boys' Singles: Billy Selby and Fred Robinson.

Girls' Singles: Frances Oertli.

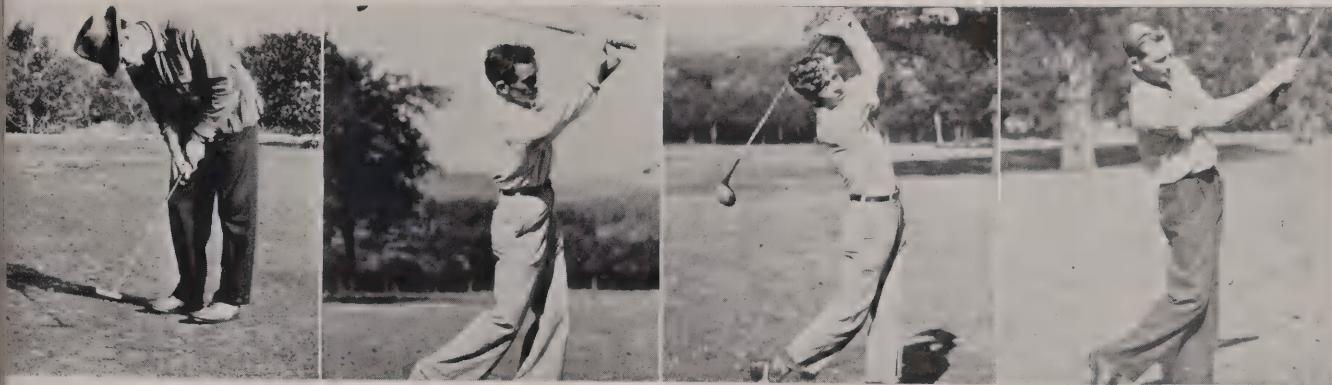

Girls' Doubles: Frizzell and Thompson

At the District meet in Georgetown, the Maroon netters came out as expected. Shelby Frizzell won her match, 6-0, 6-1, and Selby and Goen beat the Marble Falls doubles team, 6-2, 6-8, 8-6, 6-4.

Three members of the team, namely, Shelby Frizzell, Clarence Goen, and Fred Robinson, will be back for the 1941 season.

GOLF

With one of the best golf teams ever to come out of Austin High, Coach L. S. Ramsey had large hopes for his tee-men to win the state title. But, unfortunately, they did nothing like that, though through the season they were consistently one of the best teams on the links.

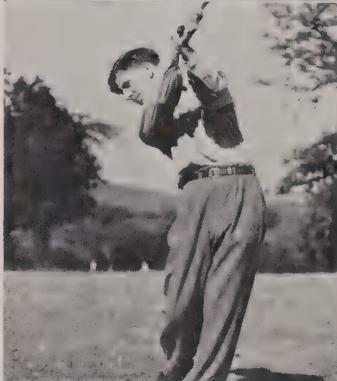

Coach Ramsey had three lettermen, Claude Wild, Gilbert Hickman, and Dudley Krueger, to start the season, and he discovered two other very promising players during the year. They were George Seaholm, transfer from San Antonio, and Bobby Rowley, sophomore.

The first meet which the golfers attended was the Fort Worth open tourney which was held in Fort Worth, Saturday, March 16. High school and college teams from all over the state participated, and the Maroons came out third, being beaten only by Schreiner Institute and Texas A & M college.

The next meet was the Luling invitational meet which the Crimsons won for the second straight year. The Maroons' team score was 628 while their nearest opponents, Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio, counted their score as 642.

This last summer, after the season was over, Gilbert Hickman went to the finals in the Austin City tournament, and George Seaholm was runner-up in the consolation flight of the State junior tourney.

Coach Johnny Keel's Maroonettes, better known as the "B" team, cannon fodder, and work-horses, had a good (to them) season during 1940, when they won one game out of five and tied one.

Seriously, the B team really showed some exceptional talent in their games, even though they lost nearly all of them. The B squad boys first took on The Texas School for the Deaf, a bigger and older team. They lost by a score of 20 to 0. Next, the Little Maroons went to battle with the Hutto Hippos and tied the game up 6-6.

The Juniors then journeyed to Blanco where they scored their only victory of the season, 18-0. The next week, Jim Worrell, ex-Austin boy, led his Peacock Military Academy mates to victory over the Austin B squad by a score of 21-0. The last game of the season was against the Austin High varsity squad which the Maroonettes lost 13-0. They showed great improvement over their condition in the Peacock game.

Stars of the B team line were Jimmy Banis, Winifred Crumley, Marvin Crowe.

Stars of the backfield were Billy Quinn, hard-bucking fullback, and Jackie Elliott, diminutive quarterback.

B TEAM

GOLDSHIRTS

The Austin High Goldshirts! Junior Champions!

The little fellows, commonly known as the Freshmen, or any other name that people want to call them, are looked down upon by the older and more experienced football men, but ask any coach what team he thinks would be the best for his men to play upon before they play for him and he would promptly tell you that the Goldshirts are the best experience that an erstwhile player can have.

This last season, the Freshie took the Junior Championship of the City League, winning three games, tying one, and losing one. They beat the University High Eagles 19-0, 18-0, and tied them once 0-0.

They beat the Allan High team 13-0, and were beaten once by the Allan boys 6-0.

The only out-of-town competition that the Goldshirts received was the night that the Leander Tigers came to town and went home defeated by a score of 27-19.

Outstanding in the line for the Freshmen were Penn and Champion, while the outstanding backfield men were Bobby Coy Lee and Joe Gaulding.

Boys' Intramurals

Another of the fine intramural programs that have been conducted in Austin High in recent years was held under the direction of a new intramural director, Clyde Prestwood. Prestwood is a former University of Texas athlete, and now has a class in the high school besides being director of intramurals.

The Gridiron club, composed of football players on Austin High's various teams, won the only double victory of the program by carrying away the baseball and volleyball crowns. They won the baseball tourney by defeating the Nine Horsemen of Miss Ima Culley's advisory behind the magnificent pitching of Tommy Gray. The Senate Debate club and the Brainstorms tied in a hot battle for the basketball trophy, and the tie was played off at Fite Nite after the Comet went to press. In the football race, the Forrest Guynn Cook club and the Woodrow Wilson club finished neck and neck for the cup.

Single medals were won by three boys in the competitions for individuals. Paul Lockte won the ping-pong tournament, while Robert Kirschner won the free throw competition. In the bowling tourney, Marvin Crowe won the event over several other entries.

Prestwood, in his first year as intramural director, won the admiration of most of the competitors at the beginning of the program, and his winning smile, his fairness, and his good sportsmanship won him a place in the hearts of the boys.

Climaxing the biggest intramural girls' programs in the history of the school, the girls' Athletic association walked off with the point trophy, a competition that lasted over the whole program.

The volleyball tourney was won by the G.A.A. while the basketball tournament was won by the Hypatians.

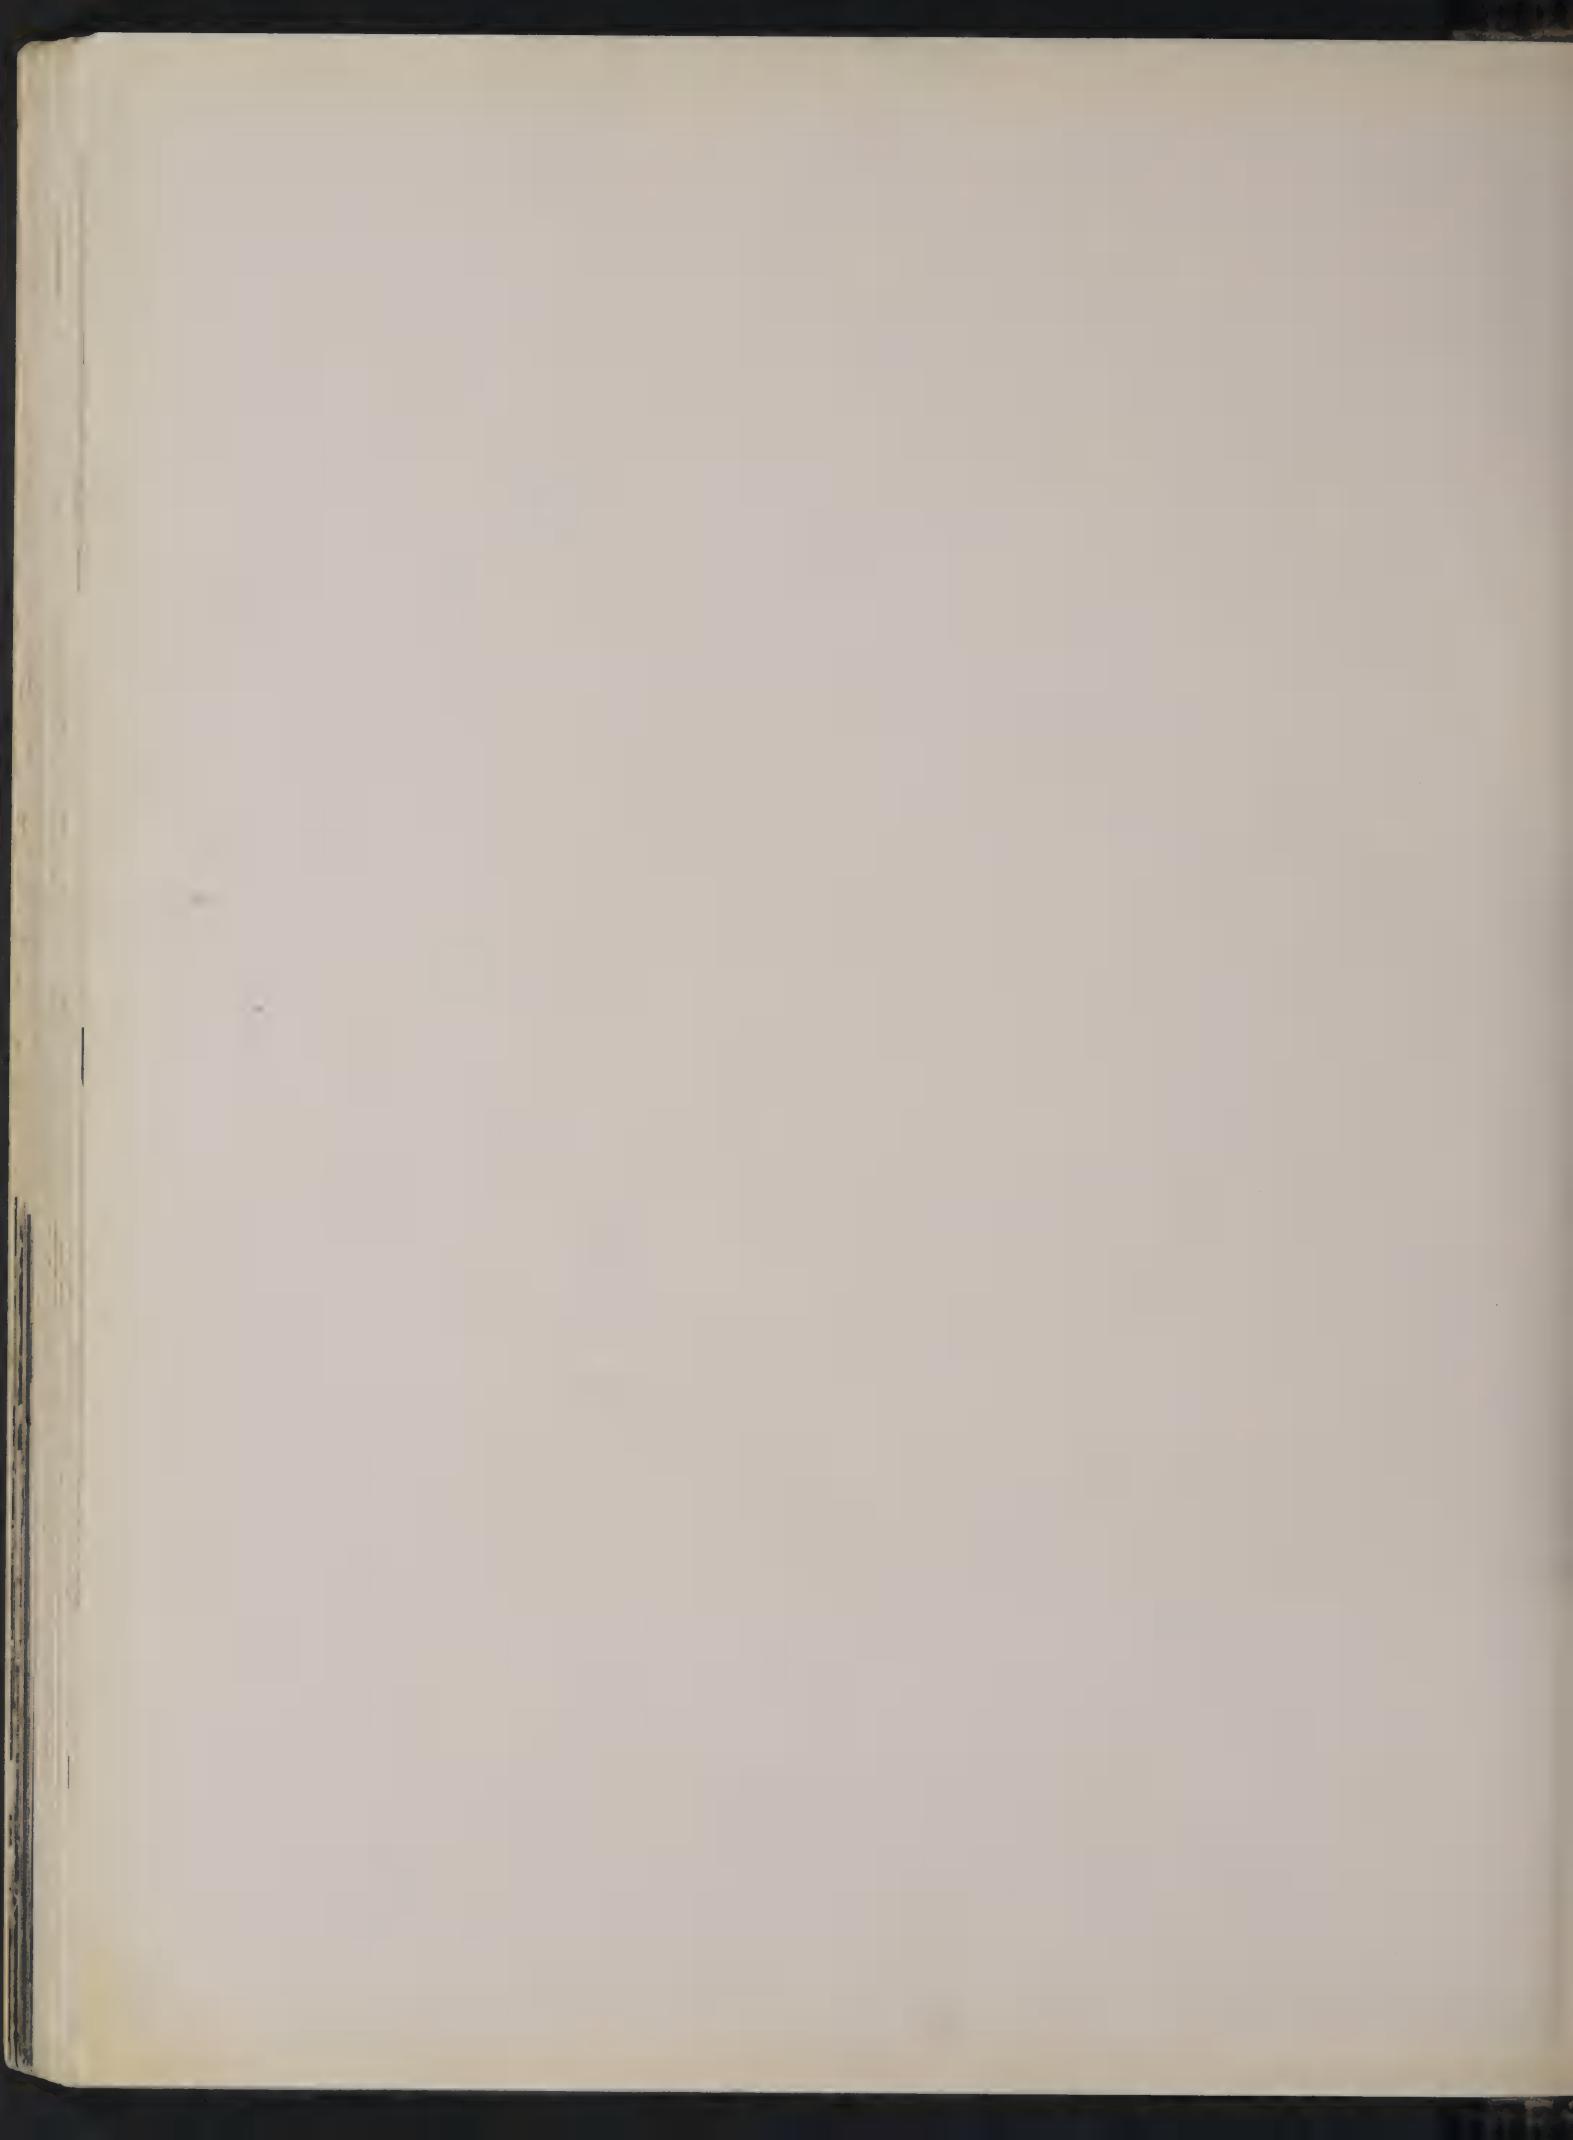

In the individual competitions, Dorothy Coleman of the Athenaeum Literary Society won the archery contest, and the G.A.A. team, consisting of Lynelle Paschall and Dorothy Moore, walked off with the deck tennis crown. In the ping-pong competition, Marie Haenel and Dorothy Arlitt of the Sapphonian literary society won over the other contestants. The Margaret Preston Literary society won the badminton tourney with their team of Peggy Dockery and Rose McNamee.

The G.A.A.'s were closely pressed for the point trophy by the Sapphonians and the Polyhymnians who finished in that order.

AUSTIN HIGH CELEBRATES

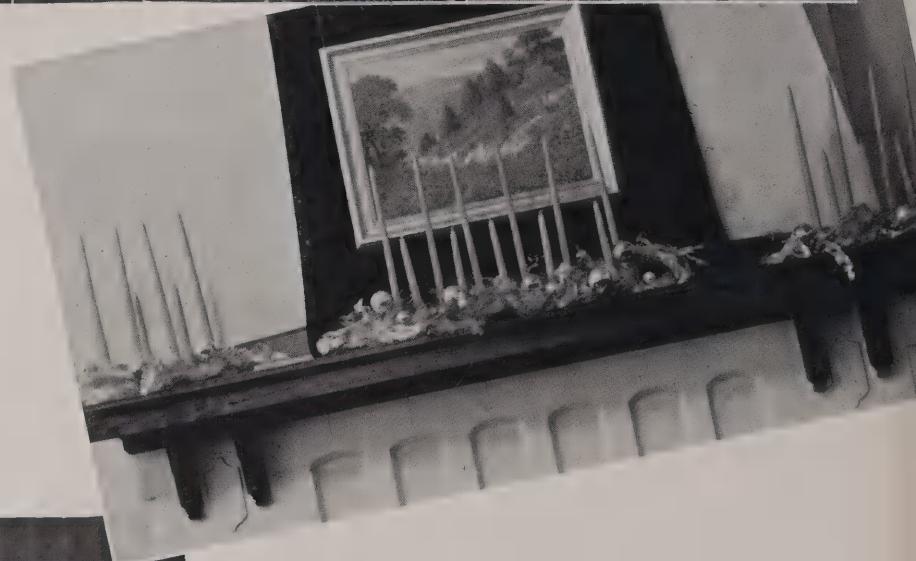

Decorated trees depict our Christmas spirit.

MESSIAH soloist, Dorothy Ann Hank, knows the notes.

Lights, ornaments, and plenty of tinsel deck our Library tree.

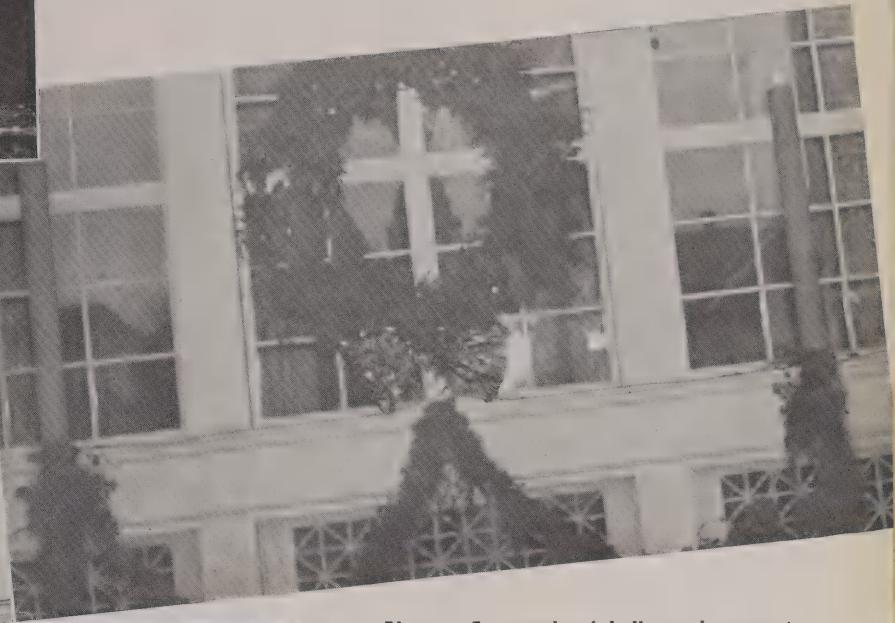

Christmas overtakes our Library mantel.

Seventy-four voices and the orchestra present Handel's MESSIAH.

CHRISTMAS - 1940

Christmas candles burn brightly in our Library display case.

Above: A wreath of holly and symmetrically placed tapers carry greetings from our front door.

The Manger Scene—Centerpiece of our Christmas decorations.

Peacefully we Christmas wreath our war-memorial stone.

A Millionaire's Drink

Why does
7UP
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
like you

As you sip a bottle of 7-Up, read the new label. You will find this statement: "The 'Fresh Up' Drink contains carbonated water, sugar, citric acid, lithium and sodium citrates, flavor derived from lemon and lime oils." These fine ingredients are your assurance. They are the strongest reason why 7-Up likes you!

If you are a millionaire, there is one thing you can't buy: you can't buy a better drink than 7-UP. 7-UP is the choice of people of taste. Anyone can enjoy 7-UP . . . a millionaire's drink for a nickel.

Fine Portraiture

means more than merely pressing a bulb. Much of the skill that goes into the painting of a masterpiece in oil can also be incorporated into the making of a portrait photograph.

Correct position of the sitter, skillful handling of the lights to retain the best modelling of the individual's features, careful developing, retouching and printing all affect the quality of the final photograph.

Given good oils, brushes and canvas, a master of oils can paint a portrait that lives through the centuries. But the same materials in the hands of a less experienced worker may result in distressing disappointment. So it is, exactly, with cameras and photographic materials. Good materials alone do not insure finest results. The user of the materials must not only be a master, but must also possess the will and the desire to attain the finest results. It has been a pleasure for us to make the photographs for your yearbook. We take an interest in doing things not the easiest and cheapest way, but in the best possible way.
